HALLOWKIWANIS IS KIDDIES MAGIC WORD

Sciots' Circus Leaves Aftermath of Satisfaction and Good Feeling

Our City comment & discussion by THOMAS D. WATSON

Credit Men Favor Closing All Stores In Honor of Armistice Day

THE Glendale Credit Men's association went on record today in favor of closing all stores on Armistice Day. As November 11 falls on Sunday, this year, Monday, the 12th, will be observed instead.

This action means the closing of practically all the stores, for with few exceptions the business men all hold membership in the association.

With the retail stores and banks closing, there is ltitle doubt that the entire business world will observe the day.

* * *

POST No. 127 of the American Legion, which is Glendale's designation, is arranging to put on a mammoth parade which will probably be followed with a big football game. So lay this day aside from any other activity and help the ex-service men of the World War put on a celebration which will long be remembered in our city.

* * *

ANOTHER date which all of Glendale should keep free is Tuesday, November 6. This is the evening on which the benefit performance is to be held, proceeds of which are to go to the families of the two men who gave their lives in assisting in fighting the hill fire which was menacing our homes.

It should not be necessary for the committee in charge of the affair to have to worry over the slowness of the ticket sale. Surely Glendale people have not forgotten their obligation to the families of these two men.

* * *

IF nothing else can stir the heart of the Glendale people sufficiently to get them to purchase tickets the slogan used on the tickets should: "They might have been yours." We may some day have another fire and the wording to you may change to "They were yours," and with this thought in mind do as you would want to be done by if in need of assistance.

* * *

WHILE probably the families of these two boys are not actually in need, their main support has been taken away and we for whom they sacrificed should assume the obligation in part measure.

Tickets may be secured in many places. If not convenient to call, telephone the Daily Press office, Glendale 97, and we will be glad to deliver to you any number you may want.

SCIOT CIRCUS WAS PLEASING TO ALL PATRONS

Attendance Was Good, Acts Fine and Everybody Happy

Step up, brother, and get your automobile. It's just as easy!

The holder of the ticket that won the Gardner car at the Sciots' Circus is in Glendale, but up to this time he has not been found.

The number of the lucky ticket is 21155.

If you have this number don't be bashful. Just present it at 600 South Brand boulevard and a spanking new automobile will be handed over to you. Here's your chance to join the millionaire class.

The "runner up" tickets are as follows:

Second, 4793; Third, 74169; Fourth, 74257.

It is known that the fourth number is held by Dr. Frank Arnold of 211 East Lomita avenue. The numbers will be considered in the order they were drawn from the box, so that if the first three numbers are not produced Dr. Arnold will be given the auto.

The car will be held for the holder of the winning number until noon of November 6th. If it is not turned in by that time the car will be turned over to the holder of the second number, if he can be located.

The $100 in gold, also, remains unclaimed.

Following is the order in which the numbers for this prize were drawn from the box:

3166, 10518, 92413, 3727, 7233, 62070, 15883, 52694, 68312, 19345, 68179, 91547, 58934, 18087, 15934, 17887, 6137, 62693, 36984, 19339.

This $100 in gold will be held until noon of November 6, and if the first number above is not turned in by that time, selection will be made from the next succeeding number. This selection will be made at the office of the Toparch of the Sciots, Harry M. Bennett, 600 South Brand.

Miss Olive Middleton won the popularity contest.

The circus was a success when viewed from every angle. Never in the history of this city has a feature of this kind left such an aftermath of satisfaction and good feeling. Nearly always it has been a question of "if this or that had not taken place." Not so with this circus. Those attending the show received their money's worth and they went away satisfied. The acts were all first-class and proved good entertainment.

The Scribe of the Glendale Sciot order reports that a child's parasol and a ring full of keys were found at the circus. They may be claimed at 600 South Brand.

CREDIT MEN FAVOR CLOSING STORES ON ARMISTICE DAY

The Credit association at its luncheon meeting today at the Egyptian cafe went on record as favoring the closing of all stores on Monday, Nov. 12, which will be observed as Armistice Day. An elaborate program will be put on by the local American Legion post in honor of the day.

A letter from the post read by F. C. Butler, urged the merchants to close all day.

Private Secretary of Maximilian Dies

[By Associated Press]

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 29.—Jose Luis Blasio, who served Emperor Maximilian as private secretary during the brief reign in Mexico that ended with his execution, is dead as a result of the shock he experienced when the report was spread recently that the former Empress Charlotte had died. Blasio, who entered the emperor's service at the age of 20, was the sole survivor of Maximilian's entourage. He died in dire poverty.

Y. M. C. A. LEADERS' ROUNDUP WAS UPLIFTING

Many Southland Cities Represented, 345 Being Present

The week-end roundup of Y. M. C. A. leaders held at Santa Monica from Saturday afternoon to Sunday night proved interesting and profitable to the 345 workers representing associations from San Diego to Santa Barbara, Glendale sending a delegation of about 12, headed by Secretary Rex Kelley. He reports that the Alhambra delegation came, some in a covered wagon and others on horseback, and put on some cowboy stunts in the afternoon.

The Saturday night feed included delicious barbecued meat baked in a pit and served with beans and other appropriate accompaniments.

After it had been enjoyed the company gathered around the camp fire and a gold "pioneer button" was presented to Jerry Blakeman of Burbank for saving a woman from drowning. Campfire songs were sung and games were played, the evening closing with an address on "Building Manhood" by G. Bromley Oxnam.

Sunday morning's devotional exercises were conducted by Leon B. Shaw of Pasadena and following these the company divided into groups interested in the various phases of Y. M. C. A. work for younger and older boys, junior college and university boys where the matters of special concern to each group were discussed.

An assembly followed at which Mr. Potter, a recent arrival from Portland, gave a talk upon conditions in central Europe. He stated that 90 per cent of the boys of Europe are suffering from malnutrition, and also declared that some of the bloodiest battles of recent years have been fought since the armistice in the Slav countries.

The talk was followed by reports from various commissioners on boys' work.

Following the mid-day dinner a fine talk on "Our Responsibility" was made by Galen Seaman, a member of the International committee of the Y. M. C. A., who has charge of work among college men.

"LEST WE FORGET" THOSE WHO GAVE THEIR LIVES THAT WE ALL MIGHT LIVE

Filmdom's Favorites Eagerly Press Forward to Give Freely of Their Time and Talent in Honor of Heroes' Memory

FAR MORE VOLUNTEERS THAN CAN BE USED

With This Example Before Them Can Glendale Citizens Hesitate to Buy Tickets for Benefit Performance? Have You Bought Yours?

While no additions to the roll of film stars eager to offer their services in the testimonial entertainment on November 6 are announced today, it is not because there were no volunteers. Mr. Wm. Howe says many more could be secured, enough to make the program last all night, but only a very few will be added to the list in the coming days.

Meanwhile, "lest we forget," the reminder is made that this entertainment is given to raise funds for the aid of dependents left by Clarence Edwards and J. W. McGahan, who lost their lives while fighting the forest fires threatening Glendale on October 13.

When these two modest heroes left their little homes on that fateful Saturday to lend their aid in beating back the flames that were rushing down upon our fated city, though they knew that grave peril confronted them neither hesitated for an instant. Lives were in danger, homes were threatened and their duty was at the front, as in time of war. They faltered not. Death found them battling desperately in defense of you and me.

Are we now to turn our backs on the loved ones whom they left to our tender mercies—that aged mother whose idolized only son was her stay and comfort, the wife and babes whose only support has been taken away? Surely in answer will go up one mighty "No!" But the best answer, the one that counts, is to buy a ticket. Remember "It Might Have Been Yours."

Right here it is appropriate to append this appeal, "To the Presidents or Leaders of All Glendale and Eagle Rock Organizations:

"This is a call to you and your organization to render a real service to the loved ones of the heroes who gave their lives in their desire to save Glendale and Eagle Rock from the terrible forest fire.

"A benefit show is being given at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse in Glendale, Tuesday evening, November 6. A program of the best stage and screen stars in the world will be presented.

"This is a worthwhile cause. We might have suffered the same fate as Berkeley.

"They might have been yours.

"Cordially yours,

SPENCER ROBINSON,
Mayor of Glendale.
Chairman of Relief
Benefit Committee.

DISCUSS PLANS FOR 'BENEFIT' TICKET SALE

General Commttee and Organizations Are Represented

Plans for the sale of tickets to the "fire benefit" to be given Nov. 6 in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse were discussed this morning in the chamber of commerce offices by representatives of various civic organizations.

Mayor Spencer Robinson, chairman of the general committee, presided. Chalmer D. Day, commander of the local post of the American Legion, made his report as chairman of the ticket-selling committee. Other members of this committee who were present were W. L. Twining, director of the chamber of commerce, and Mrs. A. P. Findlay of the Tuesday Afternoon club.

Others present were William A. Howe, manager of the Glendale theater, who is arranging the program; E. F. Sanders, secretary of the chamber of commerce; Mrs. Dan Campbell, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club; Miss Eva Daniels of the Tuesday Afternoon club; Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward of the P. E. O.; Mrs. Emil Frug of the Legion auxiliary; Mrs. A. G. Reily, president of the Twentieth Century club of Eagle Rock; Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, representative of the Red Cross; Mrs. E. B. Moore, president of the Federated P.-T. A.; Alex Mitchell, president of the Foothill Improvement association; Mrs. John R. Case and R. E. Tucker representatives of Community Service; E. L. Sullivan of the American Legion; Dan Campbell, director of the chamber of commerce; Dr. James A. Belyea, Exchange club; George B. Carr, Rotary club.

BETTER HEALTH SOUGHT THROUGH CLEANER AIR

[By Associated Press]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Smoke nuisance in cities is again receiving the attention of civic authorities and organizations in their campaign for its elimination, reports to the Interior Department indicate. The campaign was suspended during the war, when most of the country's smoke ordinances were held in abeyance to allow industries to operate unrestrictedly when maximum production was necessary. With the return of normal conditions many cities have shown a determination to take up this matter seriously and work out a solution.

Residence smoke, while making probably less than 10 per cent of the total smoke of a city, is particularly objectionable because it is produced in the section where its damaging possibilities are at a maximum. Such smoke has a serious pathological aspect in addition to its destructive effect on property. Acute lung diseases, such as pneumonia, bronchitis, and pleurisy, are affected by the corrosive fumes to a marked degree. Investigators agree that there is a direct relation between a heavy smoke-laden atmosphere and the morbidity of the population; moreover, it tends to lower efficiency and increases crime and suicide.

AUTO COLLISIONS NUMEROUS OVER WEEK END

Saturday Was Hoodoo Day for Automobiles in Glendale

A number of automobile collisions occurred Saturday but none yesterday, according to the records of the Glendale police department.

S. L. Walker of 131 Arden avenue, well known real estate dealer, who was knocked down about noon Saturday while standing near the northwest corner of Brand boulevard and Burchett street, was taken to the Glendale sanitarium hospital with his collar bone and fifth rib broken. Mr. Walker was standing on the corner when a delivery car owned by Goode & Belew of 110 East Broadway was being driven by Elgin N. Bishop of 359 Patterson avenue.

"I was driving north on Brand boulevard," Bishop reported, "and at the intersection of Burchett street an ice truck was crossing in front of me. To avoid hitting him I turned west on Burchett street, hitting some sand and turning the machine over." Mr. Walker was hit by the delivery car as it went over.

About $200 worth of damage was done to the machine of Mrs. J. D. Crow of 347 West Palmer avenue about 2:45 p. m. Saturday by an automobile driven by Roy V. Lockridge of Alhambra.

"I was driving north on Central avenue," reports Mrs. Crow. "The other car was going west on Colorado street. I was half way or more across the intersection when this car struck me on the right rear fender and dust shield."

The windshield of the automobile of Archie F. Miles of 404 West Elk avenue was broken about 5:30 p. m. Saturday. He was going west on Elk and in turning out to avoid another machine his windshield was jabbed by lumber protruding from a truck parked at the curb. This was in charge of F. J. Bowman of 342 West Elk and owned by Forest Lawn.

About $50 worth of damage was suffered in a collision which occurred about 4 p. m. Saturday. M. C. Patton of 1013 South Brand boulevard was going south on Central and turned to the left on Acacia avenue. Meanwhile, Carl A. Ahm of 3920 Seneca avenue was coming north on Central avenue and ran into the front end of Mr. Patton's car.

HALLOWKIWANIS SPELLS JOY TO THE KIDDIES

They're All Invited and the Whole City Will Be Theirs

Listen, kids!

You're all invited to the biggest and most exciting and most wonderful Hallowe'en party you ever saw. Every kid in Glendale—boy and girl alike—is invited to this party.

"Glendale will belong to the kids that night," said one of the Kiwanis members this morning.

So, kids you must doll yourselves up in all the funny Hallowe'en togs you can find and come to your big party. It won't cost you a penny but you'll have the best time in your whole life. All you have to do is to meet on Harvard street in front of the High school at about 7 o'clock.

Here's what the Kiwanis boys are preparing for the children on that night:

A hot dog feed. Oh, boy! Those dogs will be frizzling and sizzling and just be the right size to fit into the mouth.

Then there'll be a big bonfire. Boxes and barrels will be piled 20 or 30 feet high. Some kerosene will be thrown over them and then they will be lighted. It will be a whale of a fire.

While the fire is burning there will be story telling and other entertaining features.

Things will start with a big parade. It will be the finest parade ever held in Glendale. Hundreds of boys and girls will be in it and every one will be having the time of his or her life. Every "parader" must wear some kind of a costume—the funnier the better. Everybody will be happy and will be trying to make the other fellow have a good time. You mustn't miss that parade.

Twenty-eight prizes will be given for the best costumes in the various parade divisions. Everyone of these awards will be worth winning and every boy or girl should try to take the best in his or class.

In staging this party the idea of the Kiwanis club is to substitute a safe and sane Hallowe'en for the old time roughhouse affair.

Just Off the Wire From Here and There

[By Associated Press]

DAVENPORT, Iowa, Oct. 29.—Despondency over the loss of his position as manager of a large estate at Moline, Ills., led George Brumbaugh to fatally shoot his fiance, Miss Mary Thulin, early today and then attempt to take his own life, according to a note found in Brumbaugh's pocket. Physicians reported his condition serious. The young woman, a nurse to whom Brumbaugh was to have been married next Saturday, died shortly before noon.

BOSTON, Oct. 29.—Judge Bishop of the superior court today granted the motion of counsel for the defense to place on file the indictments charging William R. Allen, former lieutenant governor of Montana and others with conspiracy to defraud the stockholders of the Boston and Montana Corporation and its subsidiaries and charging Allen with larceny. This action was taken pending the outcome of a plan of re-organization.

WHEELING, W. Va., Oct. 29.—Loot valued at $46,064 was taken by thieves who raided the Stone and Thomas Department Store here last night. The robbery was discovered today when employes, reporting for work, found Louis Vockler, night watchman, handcuffed to a post on the upper floor of the building. The robbers escaped with $9000 in cash, fur coats valued at $15,000 and a number of liberty bonds, stocks and notes.

LONDON, Oct. 29.—The condition of Former Premier Andrew Bonar Law is becoming increasingly serious. Sir Thomas Horder, the famous cancer specialist, has been unable to check the progress of the grave throat malady from which the former premier is suffering and his friends despair of his recovery. Those who have seen him recently say that he has failed greatly.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 29.—Continuing his tour of Virginia battle fields, besun yesterday with visits to Fredericksburg and the scene of the Wilderness fighting, David Lloyd George set out from Richmond early today to view the area of operations around the former Confederate camp, first turning his attention to the historic locality of the seven days' struggle in the summer of 1862.

MANILA, Oct. 29.—A wireless message received here today from Governor General Leonard Wood who is at Parang, Mindanao, said the Moro trouble there appeared to be entirely local and largely caused by the Moros' dislike of Christian schools and certain irritating taxes.

Governor General Wood has sent couriers to hostile leaders to arrange for a conference.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Seventeen bodies of American soldiers who died overseas, including two officers stricken down by lightning in the recent James Gordon Bennett international balloon races, were brought home today by the transport Sapello.

The bodies included those of Sergeant Thomas R. White of Sacramento, Cal., and Private Henry F. Midfieldt, Dixon, Calif.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Oct. 29.—Seven destroyers and several tugs have been dispatched to the assistance of submarines O-11 and R-25, reported disabled in a rough sea 100 miles east of the Great Guana Key, near the Bahamas. Submarines broke down about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, it was said at the headquarters of the Sixth Naval District here.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 29.—Miss Mary Darroch and Miss Mary Sharp, British missionaries captured by bandits last month have been released, according to a message received here by the China inland mission from the mission's superintendent of Honan province. The message gave no details, merely saying "ladies released."

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—Refineries today announced a reduction of 20 cents per hundred pounds in the basic price of refined cane and beet sugar, effective at once.

The new base price for refined cane sugar is $9 and for refined beet sugar, $8.80.

ST. ANSGAR, Iowa, Oct. 29.—Sylvester Layman, who celebrated his 103rd birthday three days ago, died at his home here Saturday.

NEW SOUTH WALES ERECTS COTTON GINS

[By Associated Press]

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Oct. 29.—New South Wales, which shares with Queensland the honor of pioneering the cotton industry in Australia, now has its own gin, erected at Newcastle under the supervision of the British-Australian Cotton association. The premier and a large parliamentary party with other prominent figures were present at the opening.

The cotton industry in New South Wales is new, but it shows promise of a good future. Last year, sufficient seed was supplied to plant more than 7500 acres. The demand for seed has been widespread and it is estimated that from 20,000 to 30,000 acres will be planted in this state. The cotton acreage in Queensland is considerably larger.

NEW POSTOFFICE FOR GLENDALE NOW ASSURED

Glendale's new postoffice will be located at 414 East Broadway, on the south side, between Kenwood and Jackson streets. Official acceptance of the lease offered by Louis Monroe of Los Angeles for the rental of a building to be erected upon this site was received this morning by Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson from John H. Bartlett, first assistant postmaster general. Plans and specifications are now being prepared for the new building and as soon as they have been completed construction will commence. It is not expected that the postoffice will be established there this year.

CEMENT SHIPMENTS INCREASE

[By Associated Press]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—An index of building activity, and consequently of business in general, is shown in production and shipments of Portland cement for the first nine months of this year. September production was a record. Shipments also exceeded those of the first nine months of last year.

BANKERS DIFFER ON CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 29.—A difference over the bankers attitude on co-operative marketing and selling developed today at the conference of the agricultural commission of the American Bankers Association in the opening session of a two day meeting.

Reports of members of the commission from each of the twelve federal reserve districts indicated that the commission was almost evenly divided over the wisdom of co-operative effort among farmers. P. B. Doty of Beaumont, Texas, member of the commission for the eleventh federal reserve district, expressed what seemed to be the prevailing opinion when he said that "the success of co-operative selling depends upon who is to manage the organization and what it tries to sell."

CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE OF CHEST MEETS TONIGHT

Plans for the Community chest campaign November 19 to 24 will be discussed tonight in the lobby of the Chamber of Commerce at a meeting of the campaign committee. It will be called to order at 7:30.

MEN OF CHRISTIAN CHURCH CALL ON MEMBERSHIP

Thirty men of Central Christian church went out yesterday afternoon by twos to call on the entire membership. This is an annual custom of the church.

STAGE LINE WOULD INCREASE FARES 2c

W. C. Dunlap, owning and operating the Original Stage line, between Los Angeles and San Fernando and intermediate points, has applied to the Railroad commission for permission to increase rates 2 cents per ride at Sheldon avenue and 5 cents per ride at Terra Bella and San Fernando; and to reduce fares to Burbank 10 cents per ride on a 60-ride ticket.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—A suit in equity for $10,050,000 was filed in federal court today by Shubert Vaudeville Inc., against the B. F. Keith Vaudeville Exchange and the Orpheum Circuit Inc., alleging violation of the federal laws relating to restraint of trade.

ROOSEVELT'S COUSIN BUYS ACREAGE FOR BIRD HAVEN

[By Associated Press]

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Eleven and a half acres of wild land which surrounds the grave of Theodore Roosevelt at Oyster Bay has been purchased by his cousin, W. Emlin Roosevelt, New York capitalist, and presented to the National Association of Societies for a wild bird sanctuary and shrine for bird lovers, it was announced today by T. Gilbert Pearson, president of the association.

SOLICITOR OF ORDERS FOR CHINA ARRESTED

Glendale families that ordered dishes from the Pacific Decoratng company may be able to secure the return of their dollar deposits, despite the fact that there seems to be no such company. On a charge of obtaining money under flase pretenses Paul B. Talmage, alias R. K. Wells, was arrested Saturday afternoon while he was making a call at 1115 East Wilson avenue, according to the police. He had been taking orders for china.

SCRATCHED MATCH ON NEW PACKARD, LANDED IN JAIL

M. Sanvis, local Mexican, spent Saturday afternoon and a large part of Saturday night in the headquarters' jail. He was arrested after he had scratched a match on a new Packard at 510 East Broadway parked in front of the Dixie-Packard agency. W. H. Daniel, local distributor, was quite provoked.

SUNDAY NIGHT BURGLARIES REPORTED TO POLICE

Several burglaries occurred last night in Glendale.

The home of C. F. Hahn at 1326 North Central avenue was entered through a small window in the bathroom. A number of articles were stolen.

Mrs. E. Hinkle of 346 Riverdale drive this morning reported the theft of $12 early last night. Entrance was gained through a rear window

L. A. SUBURBAN TELEPHONE USERS PROTEST TOLLS

According to an Associated Press dispatch from San Francisco, dated October 29, 12:39 p. m., twenty telephone users residing between Los Angeles and Glendale protested today to the state railroad commission against being forced by the Southern California Telephone company to put all Los Angeles calls through the Glendale exchange with consequent toll of 10 cents a call. The petitioners demand a direct service minus the toll, holding that they live closer to Los Angeles than to Glendale.

NEW CORD TIRE STOLEN FROM PARKED AUTO

A new Kelly-Springfield cord tire was stolen from the automobile of J. C. Griffin of King City, Friday night, while it was parked in the alley back of the Brand hotel at 230 South Brand boulevard.

HEALTH WORKERS STOP EPIDEMICS IN PHILIPPINES

[By Associated Press]

MANILA, Oct. 29.—Eradication of all dangerous epidemics in the Philippine Islands, organization of an efficient commissioned personnel, and survey of malaria and hookworm infested areas preliminary to campaigns carried out with the co-operation of the Rockefeller Foundation, were the outstanding achievements of the insular health service during last year, according to the annual report of the director of health.

Invaluable knowledge as to the extent of malaria and hookworm was made available for health workers through the survey of conditions in several portions of the islands initiated by the Rockefeller Foundation, the report says, thus making it much easier for the service to draft plans for combating the two diseases.

The general birth rate during 1922 increased, while the death rate became lower. The better showing is attributed to the general improvement in sanitary conditions in most parts of the islands.

With reference to the anti-typhoid and smallpox vaccinations which are being given by health officers from time to time, it is declared that from the results obtained, there is evidence that immunity from typhoid and smallpox on the part of a large number of the people during 1922 was due to inoculations.

Heilmann, Who Beat Ruth for Season's Batting Honors, Signing Babe Up for $50,000 Insurance

When the American league season closed, Harry Heilmann of the Detroit Tigers led the heavy hitters with an average of .402 for 144 games, eight points ahead of Babe Ruth, whose mark was .394 for 152 games. Before and after the baseball season Heilmann is an insurance man. During the world's series he not only watched the Babe bang out home runs; he kept his eye on him as an insurance "prospect." The photograph above shows Harry batting well over .400 in the insurance league.

LEGION DANCE IS SPOOKY AFFAIR

About fifty couples attended the Hallowe'en masquerade party given Saturday night by Glendale post, No. 127, American Legion, at the Legion hall. Pumpkins, corn stalks, scare crows, witches, black cats and owls all formed part of the sceheme of decoration. The Hallowe'en colors of black and orange predominated in the fancy dress costumes of the guests. Everyone entered into the spirit of the occasion and enjoyed a very happy evening. Refreshments of cider and apples were served.

The first costume prize, a string of French beads donated by the Japan Art & Tea company, was awarded to Miss Doris Hooper, who wore a mandarin outfit, and second prize, a box of chocolate candy, donated by Pope confectionery, went to Mrs. Groff, attired in a Hallowe'en costume of black and orange.

An interesting program had been arranged through the courtesy of the Cavanah studio and included the following numbers: Dance, "Gavotte Charmaute," by Jean McLain, pupil of Marcella Webb; reading, "Grandma's Prayer," by Ruth Stine; song, "Mighty Lak a Rose," by Marguerite Anderson; reading, "Tomboy," by Ruth Stine; reading, "Miss Edith Sings Alone," by Marguerite Anderson. Ichabod Crane's "Sleepy Hollow orchestra" of six pieces, in rube costumes, furnished excellent music for dancing.

Leroy Fortier was chairman in charge of arrangements for Saturday night's dance. He is also planning a big dancing party to be given on Monday night, November 12, in celebration of Armistice Day, to which all Legionnaires and friends are expected to turn out. The place will be announced later.

OPENING MEETING OF JUNIOR AUXILIARY

At the opening meeting of the Junior Auxiliary of the Glendale Music club held at the home of Mrs. Nathan Rigdon, 224 West Doran street, Saturday night, the study of Italian opera was inaugurated under Mrs. Dora Gibson, chairman of programs, who gave a short talk on its development up to the time of Rossini. The balance of the program was given by officers of the club, Lucile Allen, president; Winifred Parker, recording secretary, and Jeannette Luc, corresponding secretary. Miss Luc told the story of the "Barber of Seville" which was illustrated by victrola numbers. This was followed by miscellaneous numbers by Lucile Allen and Winifred Parker.

Following the program games were played and refreshments were served. Hallowe'en suggestions dominated decorations and refreshments and the meeting was largely attended and enthusiastic. "Il Trovatore" will be the theme of the November meeting for which Mrs. Spencer Robinson has promised to furnish soloists.

MESDAMES HAMLIN AND HEPBURN ENTERTAIN 80

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Hamlin and Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Hepburn entertained a group of eighty friends at a delightful Hallowe'en party on Saturday night. The affair took place in the mess hall on the ranch which is being subdivided by the realty firm of Hamlin & Hepburn of Glendale at Edgemont Park, Burbank, and was in the form of a Hallowe'en barn dance. Appropriate decorations were used suggesting the Hallowe'en season. The guests were friends from Los Angeles, Burbank, Glendale and Hollywood. Delightful music was furnished by Kelly's Shrine orchestra.

In addition to dancing the evening's entertainment included stunts and games for which the prize was awarded to Dr. T. P. Noehle. The prize for the most appropriate costume was awarded to John MacGregor, who was dressed as "Uncle Josh." Toasted marshmallows and wieners over an open fire out doors was another feature. During the evening a buffet lunch of pumpkin pie, coffee, doughnuts, cider and pop corn were served. A witch told fortunes.

REV. THOMAS LUTMAN TO ADDRESS BIBLE SECTION

Rev. Thomas Lutman, well known Chautauqua lecturer and author, will be the speaker at the next regular meeting of the Bible section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, to be held at 10:30 a. m. on November 6 at the clubhouse, according to Mrs. Charles H. Temple, curator. There will also be a motion picture shown, the title of which is "When the Mountains Meet the Sea."

Mrs. Brown was particularly fond of reminding her husband that the silver was hers, the furniture was hers, the piano was hers, and so on, until poor Brown wished he hadn't married a girl with money.

One night Mrs. Brown awoke and heard strange voices in the lower part of the house. Punching her husband in the ribs, she cried:

"John, get up! There are burglars downstairs!"

"Eh?"

"Burglars downstairs!" shrieked his wife.

"Burglars?" said Brown as he turned over. "Well, let 'em burgle. There's nothing of mine there."

SOME FARMING ERRORS

Governor Kendall of Iowa, visiting southern California to renew acquaintance with former constituents, told one interviewer that he had known farms in his state to sell at $650 an acre. In that single statement he explained why there could be lack of prosperity in an agricultural section of such high productivity.

Not only may the Iowa farmer have a wide variety of crops, but he is close to railroads and markets. When wheat is low there is a chance that corn may be high. He also raises oats, rye and barley. The cost of keeping hens on a farm where grain is grown and is fed to hogs and cattle, is almost negligible. Milk, butter and eggs, easily become sources of revenue, or at least supply food for home use. Thus an Iowa farmer may, if not handicapped by debts, be more independent than anybody else. But he can't pay $650 an acre for his land and get interest on the investment. Such a price, the result of a wild period of speculation, was abnormal. It was reached during a crazy boom that was certain to collapse. If consumers had to pay rates that would represent profit to the Iowa farmer on $650 land, they couldn't do it long, for they would be insolvent.

Senator Brookhart of Iowa, going about with his declaration that the farmer is facing ruin, seems less well informed than he should be. The farmers of the corn belt not only decline to face ruin, but refuse to be scared by the lamentations of their own Jeremiah. There are sections of the northwest in which crops have failed for several successive years. There, many of the farmers have been forced to give up the struggle. They had chosen to try their fortunes where rainfall is inadequate save in exceptional seasons, and where no means exist for irrigating. Yet many far western farmers have done well. The yield of wheat in Oregon and Washington was ten bushels larger per acre than that east of the Rocky mountains. In California a reduced acreage in 1923 produced two million bushels more than the output of 1922.

The case of the farmer, generally speaking, is not tinged with hopelessness. He cannot grow grain or fruit where nature never intended it to grow; he cannot make money in grain or potatoes if he harvests from land that cost him $650 an acre.

NOT ALWAYS FAIR

It is to be regretted that the government is not always fair in its dealings with individuals and groups. An instance illustrative of this is seen in Tacoma, Wash. The city is the largest in Pierce county, and is the county seat. Out of a county population of 150,000, two-thirds live in Tacoma.

In 1917 the voters of Pierce county bonded themselves in the sum of $2,000,000 in order to purchase a tract of land approximating 65,000 acres, to be presented to the government for a permanent military reservation. It is high and sightly ground, ideal for the purpose. Long before the war, army officers had expressed a desire to have the government purchase the tract for such use. The bonds that the people assumed in their patriotic desire to aid the government and doubtless with wise thought to enlarged trade, cost them $187,000 a year in interest and redemption. Probably they would not complain had the government kept its part of the bargain. It utterly has failed to do so. During the war Camp Lewis was a busy place. Since the war it has been neglected and permitted to fall into decay. The government, that had declined to purchase the tract even when there had been sore need of it, accepted it as a gift. In return it promised that there should be maintained there a force of 15,000 soldiers. The promise is ignored. There are less than a thousand men of the army on the whole vast tract.

There remain open to the government two honorable courses. One is to give the land back to the donors, the other to keep the land, and keep its own promise. There is no apparent reason why any community should be asked to carry such a burden for the richest government in the world, particularly as the government fails to appreciate the favor.

SEEDS OF DISCONTENT

When Harrison was governor-general of the Philippines he had a great opportunity for good or ill. He might have promoted content among the people of the islands. They were feeling grateful to the United States. The native politicians had not acquired the spirit of aggression, nor developed the insolence that soon began to mark their conduct. Harrison set aside American opinion, humiliated many Americans, and toadied to the islanders in a manner not becoming either his official position or his citizenship. He told the Filipinos that they ought to be independent, that the day of their freedom was being wantonly delayed. He made quite manifest the fact that he did not want counsel from soldiers or civilians who were familiar with the islanders, aware of the instinctive duplicity of the former subjects of Spain, and certain of their incapacity for self-government save after long training. Closing his ears to all of these, Harrison sought advice of the social elements not qualified to give it. He inspired them with his own prejudiced beliefs. When he could belittle an American and exalt a native, he never hesitated to decide against the American. The Filipino began to become chesty. He deemed himself not merely the equal of the white man but his superior. He adopted the policy of biting the hand that fed him, Harrison being the inspiration of the change.

The result is to be observed in the noisy crop of Quezons. This political aggregation may not be deeply blamed. It but follows the teaching of the former governor-general whose duty was to teach something quite different. Harrison busied himself in sowing the seeds of discontent. Now harvest time seems to have arrived.

THE NAVY REMEMBERED

Navy day was celebrated with fitting enthusiasm. The expression of genuine interest was a fine tribute. The record of the navy is something in which the people of the whole country take a deep and abiding pride. They know that alike in war and in peace it has won honor, and that throughout the world it is accepted as a credit to the United States.

With the congressional tendency to whittle the navy down to the point of inefficiency the people of this country have no patience. They desire to have as good ships as are afloat and enough of such ships to maintain a proportionate share of the peace of the world. A country, stripping itself of the means of defense, could not be an influence, for its voice would not be heeded.

As to the personnel of the navy, it is admittedly of high quality. It has been ready to meet every duty. Officers are highly trained, competent, alert, courageous. The men have proved their mettle. None braver dared the perils of the North Sea in time of war. No act of the navy ever has brought reproach. Each of many acts has won praise.

No American could look at the great battleships down at the harbor and not feel a thrill of gladness, a sense of security and of strength. None could become aware of the conduct and discipline of the crews and not know that these were made up of patriotic young people being trained to loyalty and fine citizenship.

There is great ado made over the navy once a year, but all the year it commands the gratitude and the admiration of Americans.

The government has plans for extensive improvements at Ellis Island. There is hope that the improvement ultimately shall be manifest in the quality of the immigration received there.

PHOTOGRAPHING THE SOUL

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

They have at last photographed the soul.

That story comes from France all embroidered about with technicalities and explained in highly scientific language. According to Henri Tassan, the professor who describes the soul photography in La Revue Scientifique, this much boasted soul of ours is a very delicate and sentitve organ of the brain, a kind of filter which separates and classifies the impressions that come to the brain, sending each to its proper area.

Estelle Lawton Lindsey

The fineness or coarseness of the filter decides the quality of one's character. The brain itself is nothing but a series of miniature pipes and reservoirs through which throughts flow or are stored as memories.

This is interesting and perhaps true; but how does the gentleman know that this delicate and active filter is the soul?

The soul as most of us understand is the very self, that which knows, weighs, thinks, judges, decides, the thing which we make or modify while in the body, but which lives on after the body becomes dust. Has any material organ, however delicate, fine and subtle, such powers as these?

Does the little brain filter as it sifts and classifies our thoughts and impressions know that I am I, that you are you, that it is wrong to be cruel, to betray a trust, to take from the weak, to desert the sick and afflicted?

In short, does it know anything outside its own small but valuable job of sifting and classifying? Unless it does, it is not the soul; it is merely an exceedingly valuable instrument of the soul. It may be photographed, weighed and measured; its functions and activities may be studied; and perhaps we may some day have a marvelous instrument through which we can sit and watch its activities. But the gentlemen who study and weigh and measure and watch will know as little about the soul after they have finished their investigations as they know now.

All the weights and measures ever invented or to be invented will not explain things that happen in the life of every thinking person above the grade of a clod; they will not explain love, loyalty, honor, the impulse of self sacrifice in the interest of the race and certain fine spirit experience that have nothing to do with any material organ, nor will they explain the consciousness that is in all of us, the certainty that the body is not we, but is an instrument through which we look at the everlasting show of which we are an integral part.

The scientists can do some wonderful and useful thing but they flatter themselves when they say they have located and photographed the human soul.

The soul is that for which the filter works; it classifies that something may judge. Who is that judge?

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

Diplomatic relations have been suspended with the girl in the outside office. She has stated, publicly, that I am a fine old porpoise. This statement was not made in a spirit of idle compliment. Yet I had only tried to be helpful.

"Funny thing about these English novels," she said to me. "The writers always talk about a girl powdering her nose as though it was a crime."

I said that I believed a girl's highest duty to humanity is to dim the heaven-born iridescence so far as possible. A gleaming, patent-leatherish, slippery sort of a nose would abate my interest in the Queen of Sheba. A little rouge is no sin. Nor is a faint pinking of the natural lip to be deplored. She said she thought so too.

"But," I said, "this new fad the girls have of imitating the sunset over Lake Como is funny. Just funny. It's all right for a pretty girl to make herself up to look like a pretty girl. But when she daubs red on her cheeks with the cheery joy of a tramp painter at work on a Kansas barn and streaks a milky way of powder down the middle of her visage and does tricks with her eyebrows—"

There were other things that I had been wanting to say for a long time, but I got no farther. The pretty girl tossed back into the outer office. I'll probably have to buy her a new vanity case to win back her regard. I'm a little weak about her. Not only is she easy to look at, but she has more downright savvy than any man on the job.

She can paint herself up like Sagwa, the Indian chief, if she'll only forgive. What's a giddy spectrum between friends?

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

CHAPTER XV.

It was all as simple as the making of a cake in the kitchen, but on a majestic scale of cake making. There was the first gathering of the ingredients. Then the putting of them into the ovens and the cooking. Then when the cake was done it was poured out into molds and left to cool. And then came out an ingot of steel—a finished steel cake. The majesty of it all lies in the fact that the ovens are heated to as high as four thousand degrees. The ingredients are fed into the fire in ton masses. The arms that poke the stuff into the oven are of steel, twenty-five feet long and a foot in diameter. And the finished cakes weigh ten tons. Some cake making is this!

JAMES W. FOLEY

* * *

This melting is only the first process, of course. The melting and cooking and then comes distribution of the cake. For the ingots are sent to the rolling mills, to be rolled into steel rails, or into rods, or into wire, or made into wire nails or staples or screws or any one of the thirty-five hundred products of the steel mills. Again I spell it out. For that many different products of steel are made. This might be termed the cutting of the cake and the feeding of it to railroads, fence builders, box makers, building contractors or any one of the institutions or organizations which make use of any of the products of steel.

* * *

All this it was my good fortune to see, after a morning with the Central High school in Pueblo where there was an audience of fifteen hundred. And afterward there was a meeting and an address to the Rotary Club, where it was my pleasure to find Arthur Chapman, author of "Out Where the West Begins." Chapman has been in New York for several years and has come back to write a history of Colorado. I had not seen him since we foregathered in Denver in 1918, at the time of the war. He is doing free lance literary work in the East, and the meeting was a delightful one, I am sure, for both of us.

* * *

In the afternoon we came down again to Walsenburg, about midway between Pueblo and Trinidad. It is a town of 4000, rather frontiery in appearance, and the center of the domestic coal mining industry in Southern Colorado. It lies right under the Spanish Peaks, twin mountain peaks which for beauty are not excelled by anything in the world anywhere, I think. I have not seen all the mountains in the world, but I do not see how any peaks could excel them in beauty. Just now they are a glittering white all down their rugged sides. The Peaks stand by themselves, perhaps fifteen or twenty miles from any mountain range. They are about twelve thousand feet above sea level at the top, and as twin mountain sentinels are visible for a hundred miles.

* * *

Local tradition says that the two peaks were at one time only one peak, rising about twenty to twenty-five thousand feet. In some great convulsion there was a slip and slide and the peak which now lies to the eastward slipped off the parent peak and the one peak became two. The geologists find the structure at the bottom of the east peak exactly the same as the structure at the top of the west peak, indicating that one at one time rested on the other and then slid off. The west peak top is like a truncated cone, sloping to the eastward, and the east peak carries the conical top. So there is reason to believe that local tradition may be well founded. If one peak did slip off the other at some time it must have kicked up quite a dust.

Songs of the Poets

The Child in the Garden—By Henry Van Dyke

When to the garden of untroubled thought
I came of late, and saw the open door,
And wished again to enter, and explore
The wild, sweet ways, with stainless bloom inwrought,
And bowers of innocence with beauty fraught,
It seemed some purer voice must speak before
I dared to tread that garden loved of yore,
That Eden lost unknown and found unsought.
Then just within the gate I saw a child,—
A stranger-child, yet to my heart most dear,—
Who held his hands to me and softly smiled
With eyes that knew no shade of sin or fear;
"Come in," he said, "and play awhile with me;
I am the little child you used to be."

OUTLAWING WAR

By DR. FRANK CRANE

SENATOR BORAH'S proposition to Outlaw War was received by the world with considerable puzzlement.

Almost everybody is opposed to war in general. But when there is a war in particular and a citizen opposes it we lock him up, ride him on a rail, or shoot him.

In other words, conscience is free only in the case of some other nation. When our own jumps into the prize ring and begins to prance, we are everything unspeakable if we disapprove.

John Dewey made the point that we can have no League of Nations, International Court, or other world-war-preventive machinery until we have developed a world public opinion, since law is powerless unless it expresses public opinion.

This is good reasoning on a poor premise. For we already have the required public opinion, and plenty of it.

The people of every nation and tribe on earth, with the possible exception of some bunch of head hunters, Bedouins or similar savages, would vote against War in General, to a man.

And the minute their own country began frothing at the mouth, and showing symptoms of epileptic patriotism, they would, to a man, vote as vigorously for War in Particular.

The reason of this is simple. It is that the world has plenty of war machinery and very little peace machinery.

The world, and every state in it, is organized for war. There are no ruts for the car of peace to run in. There is no track laid for the locomotive and train of peace to operate on.

Five thousand historic and five million prehistoric years of tradition give war a terrific momentum.

War has saturated history. War has dyed patriotism.

War owns all politicians, most newspapers, most priests, parsons and organized religions, war has cowed socialism and devoured Bolshevism bodily, war always did dominate kings, and is the only recognized honorable occupation of "gentlemen"; in fact, all the house, clothes, furniture, carpets, bedding and underwear of the human mind, reeks with the stink of war.

And yet, in spite of this, the human mind is so inherently noble and devine that you rarely find any one so crazy as to defend war, as not to condemn war—in General.

The human conscience cannot be debauched, not even by a million years of evil custom.

That conscience needs only one thing—a rut to run in.

That conscience has already outlawed war. It requires but the adequate Organization in order to function.

Once set up a working International Court and Police, once clear the way and establish the avenues for the World Conscience and it will sweep all before it.

Once set up an anti-war organization, automatically settling all disputes by law, automatically applying the world's force majeur behind world public opinion, and once demonstrate that this would lift nine-tenth of the economic burden from humanity's back, then and then only will you automatically outlaw war.

There's no sense preaching against war, for the world already is converted. We need the Engineer, not the Apostle.

We already have a fine locomotive and plenty of steam up for Peace, but we have no railroad.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

LOW-BROWED AMERICANS

[Washington Star]

It seems strange to normal men and women that there should be persons so irreverent or callous that it has become necessary to build a fence around the tomb of the unknown soldier at Arlington. Here is a monument that is a shrine. The transportation of the remains of the unknown from one of the battlefield cemeteries of France stirred solemn sentiments in millions of our people. The reception in the homeland, the honor paid to the remains of the unidentified soldier and the extraordinary solemnity of the funeral deeply touched practically everybody in the United States.

When the simple tomb at Arlington was closed there was a show of sentiment which had seldom been equalled in this country. A few weeks pass, and the shrine at which all men should stand in reverent thought becomes only one of many show places in the capital and environs. One would think that the natural impulse of every man would be to take off his hat and stand silent in contemplation of this tomb.

It would seem that every man who had been a soldier would come to attention and render a humble and unostentatious salute, and it is very likely that every soldier and ex-soldier does pay these simple duties. It would seem that everybody who had a son, brother or husband in the great war, whether he fell or came back, would on coming to this tomb offer up a prayer, and many persons do this.

But great numbers of people, principally strangers and tourists, rest their feet on the tomb or make a seat of it. Some strike matches on it. Smoke goes merrily up and groups of people laugh and chatter. Attention of the war department was called to this state of things by the cemetery officers several weeks ago, and it was proposed to set around the tomb a barrier in harmony with it and to mount a guard there. It is possible that this plan will be carried out, but for the immediate protection of the tomb a wooden picket fence has been built around it.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

HENRY JAMES

Once more the sobsister, so be she is paid at space rates, has fallen upon happy days. Not only is there a nice mysterious murder, but there are two women and a man in jail under suspicion of knowing something about the crime. From one to another of these, pencil in hand, bosom athrob with sympathy, rushes the sobsister. The resulting output is a typed portrayal of a fit of hysterics. The stuff contains no information; indeed, never is designed for so commonplace a purpose.

Papers are giving something near three pages to emphasizing the fact that they believe there has been a murder, but that this is the limit of their knowledge concerning the matter. If the truth were known it could be set forth in few words. The substitution of piffle requires more room.

The crime is strange enough, gruesome and all that. The duty of the police is to catch the guilty. The natural impulse of the reporter is to tell all he learns about the affair. Apparently, at this writing, he hasn't learned anything, a circumstance that causes him to stretch his narration unduly.

Filipinos make a demand for the withdrawal of Governor-General Wood and his replacement by a native.

Apparently the native politicians have been getting their independence too fast. They should remember the dog with a bone in its mouth, and the feline error of grabbing at the shadow of the bone.

Several earnest applicants for divorce have experienced the rebuff of having their petitions turned down cold, getting from the gentleman on the bench nothing but the fishy eye.

A disappointment of course, but nevertheless fortunate for society. It is time for knocking out the prevalent notion that a marriage ceremony may be undone with the same readiness that the film of a moving picture may be reversed.

Mr. Underwood's hat alighted in the ring so gently as not even to have stirred up the dust. Nobody seems to have any particular objection to its presence, nor yet to get much excited over it.

Los Angeles seems to have thought out a plan for relieving congested streets. It is nothing less than to repair parallel streets so that a portion of the traffic may be diverted along the most crowded area.

Seems so simple as to cause wonder that nobody had thought of it before.

"For God's sake let us have a committee of mercy in the world to put an end to war which is clouding the firmament of God's sky."

Such was the sentence with which Lloyd George closed an address delivered at Pittsburg. There does not seem occasion for saying much about it now and here. But read it over, and think upon it, and permit it to sink into the consciousness, to remain, a memory and a prayer.

Thoughtless of the feelings of a group that already had beaten a defendant as guilty of a hateful crime, a jury has pronounced the prisoner innocent.

Evidently it is possible for an excited bunch of individuals inspired by the spirit of mob rule, to be hasty in its judgments. Members of the little but earnest mob are charged with assault. Had their attack been upon a guilty wretch probably they would have had little to fear from a jury. Now they must view the outlook somewhat fearfully.

A man convicted of passing bogus checks was found guilty, but soon after released on probation. As he was leaving he asked the jailor to cash another check, and was accommodated. This check was bad as the preceding ones.

Before trusting to anybody's honor it is well to ascertain that the recipient of confidence is possessed of the admirable quality mentioned.

Four men are said to have offered to return $22,000 they had stolen from a woman if she would influence the court to give them probation. She declined, and the four are in the penitentiary.

Still, if there is $22,000 anywhere subject to their order, the lady is entitled to pester them into letting her have it.

Perhaps he had married one of those wild women.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

THE CHARM

Once when I came home from school I told my father I guessed I couldn't do my lessons. They were too hard!

"Well, well," said he knocking the ashes out of his pipe, thoughtfully eyeing me the while. "Anyway, it's time for a story!

"Once an old man and an old woman had a son. He was a very good son, but he had one fault. He never could do anything. So soon as he put foot to ground or hand to plow, he would stop and cry, 'Woe's me! I can't do anything!'

"This went on for a long time until his father, who was very troubled about him, took him to the priest. 'See if you can find what's wrong with him, father! He's not a bit of use in the world because he can never do anything. As soon as he puts foot to ground or hand to plow, he sets up the cry, "Woe's me, for I can't do anything!"'

"'That's a very sad case,' said the old priest, thinking long and soberly. 'But it's not hopeless one, I'm thankful to say. I have heard of worse ones. But we'll have to take him to the Wise Man of the Well who'll give him a charm that will lift the curse off him and he'll be as fine a boy as you could wish for.'

"So they dressed the boy in his cleanest shirt and gay blue trousers and took him to the Wise Man of the Well.

"'What is wrong with him?' said the Wise Man. 'But you needn't tell me. I know all about him. He no more sets foot to ground or hand to plow but he cries, "Woe's me, for I can't do anything." I've been preparing a charm for him this many a day. You were long coming.'

"And he took out a polished whitestone with a word carved on it and handed it to the boy saying, 'You must keep this in your pocket, and whenever you set foot to ground or hand to plow, place it in your mouth and hold it there till you turn the first furrow or make the first round of whatever task you're doing. Then take it out and say, "First done, all done," and put it back in your pocket. But mind you always keep it with you and always use it.'

"Well pleased, the old man took his son home and the very next morning sent him to plow the green field by the river, and you can be sure the lad had the stone ready and the plow went through as if it had been sent for, and he never stopped a minute for food or drink until the whole field lay brown side to the sun.

"He carried the stone till he was quite a man and had a son of his own. He was so busy thinking of him one day that he never remembered the stone and when he reached it, there was a hole in his pocket, but never a stone.

"'Why, my man,' said the wife, 'there's been no stone in that pocket this long day, for every night I look in your pocket and there's been nothing but that hole in it.'

"'Then I must have been working all this time by myself and never knew it,' said he joyfully. 'I'm my own man now with no need of the charm.' And from that day to this he never said a word about Can or Can't, but went right at it."

So my father told me.

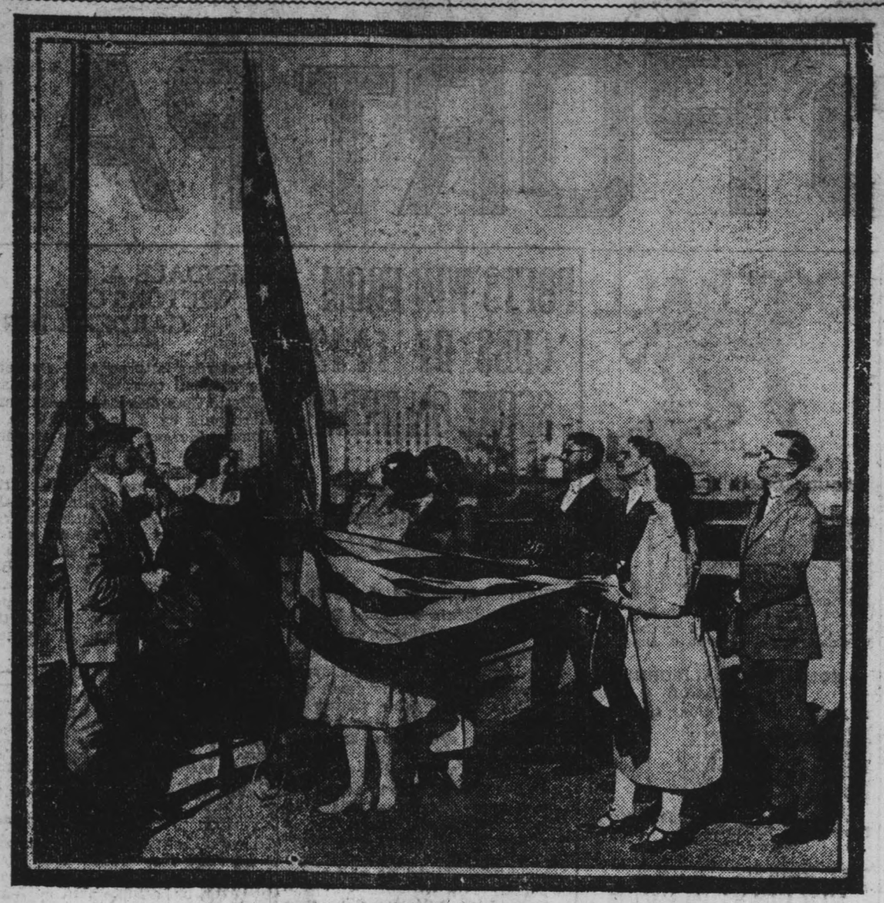
Western Auto Supply Enters New Home



WESTERN AUTO SUPPLY COMPANY OPENS ANOTHER BRANCH IN LOS ANGELES

Remarkable Growth of This Firm, Which Had Its Inception in a Small Storeroom at Twelfth and Main, L. A., Crowned by Four-Story Structure

WILL BE HEADQUARTERS OF THE COMPANY

Square Dealing, Honest Merchandise, Reasonable Prices Have Been Responsible for Unprecedented Advancement of Firm; Glendale Has Branch

The first function in connection with the opening of the new headquarters of the Western Auto Supply Company in Los Angeles, took place recently when a gathering of representative business men headed by a delegation from the Chamber of Commerce including President W. T. Bishop and Secretary Frank Wiggins, assisted George Papperdine and other executives in raising aloft the huge American Flag that will hereafter fly from the roof of their new four story edifice.

Although the affair was of a purely informal nature, the actual ceremonies consisting of raising and unfurling the flag by Mrs. Pepperdine, vice-president of the company, the guests took advantage of the opportunity in remarking upon the great growth of the company, which most of them had seen grow from practically a little "hole in the wall" on Main street of Los Angeles, into the powerful $5,000,000 corporation it has today become.

The tremendous success the company has attained during the few years of its existence, has been attributed to their square dealing and efficient service together with their "money back" policy.

Special stress was laid upon the fact that George Pepperdine, founder of the company and its present president, landed in the west a sick man and started the company merely as a means of providing for himself and the little family he had brought with him from his old home in Kansas City.

Despite the handicap of little capital and the usual discouragement that always besets a new business venture, the guests declared that Mr. Pepperdine had not only conquered the local commercial world, but had also regained his health until today he is as physically robust as his business is sound financially.

Mrs. Pepperdine also came in for considerable comment. She has been actively connected with the business during the past four years as vice-president and treasurer. Her valuable assistance has made possible the present state of the development of the company.

The whole thought of those who attended the ceremony, might be epitomized in the expression voiced by Secretary Wiggins of the Chamber of Commerce, who declared that during his connection with the Chamber, covering about 34 years, he had never seen a business develop so rapidly as had the Western Auto Supply Company.

Rev. Kringel Preaches on "Justified by Faith"

Rev. Henry O. Kringel of the Zion Lutheran congregation delivered a sermon at the morning service on the theme taken from John 16:1-4: "The Fate of a True Witness of Christ."

In the evening Rev. Kringel delivered an address at the joint Reformation celebration, which was held at Trinity church, corner West Eighteenth and Cherry streets, Los Angeles. All Lutheran churches of the city and suburban cities were represented. A large audience was present. The speaker said in part:

"The words which I have chosen for my text this evening, namely: 'The just shall live by faith,' do not flash or glitter, but like the ocean, they do not give any indication upon the surface of the profundities and mysteries that lie concealed beneath. And yet, of what passage can it be said that, occurring in the Old Testament, it is quoted thrice in the New? It is as though these words were the sum and substance of everything; to be proclaimed by the prophets in the old dispensation and echoed by the apostles in the new; to be translated into all languages and transmitted to every section of the habitable earth. The whole law of God was given to Moses in 613 precepts. David in the 15th Psalm brings them all within the compass of 11. Isaiah reduces them to six, Micah to 3 and in a later passage Isaiah reduces them to two, but the prophet Habakkuk condenses them all into one when he says: 'The just shall live by faith.'

"These words contain the greatest blessing of the Reformation of the church! Wherein did the chief blessing of the Reformation consist? According to some in this, that Martin Luther disseminated those ideas of independence, equality and liberty which have ultimately given birth to our glorious republic. According to others in this that he laid the foundation of the broad and liberal education enlightening our century. Others will point out the fact that through Luther's efforts the life and work of the people was again brought to a place of honor. These are great blessings indeed. But if we insist upon having the chief blessing pointed out to us, that can be shown with absolute authority only by that book, the Bible, upon which the Reformation was begun in the year of 1517, more especially by the passage: 'The just shall live by faith.'

"This means that man is saved not through any of his own good works, not through himself in any manner whatsoever, but that he is saved through Christ, by faith alone, believing that 'God so loved the world that He gave His only-begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life!'"

Juvenile Auxiliary of Music Club Meets

Musically inclined children to the number of thirty or more, all of whom are members of the Juvenile Auxiliary of the Glendale Music club, gathered at the Chamber of Commerce Saturday afternoon for their first regular meeting of the season which Susie Smith, president, conducted, with Marguerite Chappell acting as secretary. Directors from the senior club who were present were Mrs. Grace Jackson, chairman, Mrs. W. A. Kulp, Mrs. Eva Cunningham and Miss Mabel Carrow. Hallowe'en motifs featured decorations and refreshments and the following program was presented:

Piano, "The Secret" (Gauntrei), Dorothy Murray; and "March Mignon" (Toldini), Beatrice Smith.

Violin: Melody in C" (Kissert), Olive Cramer.

Piano: "At the Mill" (Rogers), Lottie Hudson; "Butterflies" (Greig), Maxine Heasley.

Violin: "Valse" (Damcla), by Gladys Pebbles.

Piano: "March of the Tin Soldiers" (Lichner), Robert Stringer; and "Twilight Meditation" (Debaus), by Alma Abell.

Violin: "The Swan" (Anon), Mary Kirby; and "Trixie's Goodnight Sons" (Brown), Dorothy Witzel.

Piano: "Goodnight" (Loeshorn), by Vera Lockwood.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Dunn were San Diego visitors Saturday, stopping at Hotel St. James.

Drs. Richard and Francis Eble of 228 South Louise street were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Andrews of 629 North Maryland avenue.

Frederick Wolter of 312 North Orange street returned last night from a business trip to San Francisco. He was accompanied by his young brother, Alonzo Wolter.

Philip Weismandel of 1132 Winchester is carrying his good right arm in a sling as the result of a vicious "kick back" from his flivver recently. He can't stand it to be idle, however, so is completing the painting of his home with his left hand.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Donahoe of Oakland were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mattison B. Jones of Kenneth road. Mrs. Donohoe is a national democratic committee woman and greeted many of her friends in Glendale and vicinity while she was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jones.

MONTROSE NOTES

Mrs. J. M. Coleman is another newcomer to our beautiful community. Mrs. Coleman has taken a cottage at Longview Acres and expresses herself as well pleased with her surroundings. She will spend the winter in Montrose.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Killion and Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Leach were among those spending the day at Venice. The party arrived in Montrose in the "wee small hours" having had the misfortune to encounter a resentful nail, which caused serious tire trouble and delayed them several hours.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen M. Meyers and Mr. Meyers' son-in-law, Thomas J. Jeffers and wife, arrived in Montrose recently. The newcomers made the trip overland from Chicago, and expect to make their permanent home here.

A charming Montrose girl walked off with the first prize at the American Legion dance in Glendale Saturday evening. Miss Doris Hooper, who resides on Honolulu avenue, attended the Hallowe'en affair interestingly attired as a Chinese maiden. She made a tremendous hit and the first prize, an imported amber and sterling silver carved necklace, was presented to her.

The many girl scouts of the Montrose and La Crescenta division who attended the Hallowe'en party given in the La Crescenta schoolhouse Saturday evening, will have plenty to discuss for many days to come. The affair was a success in every way, and there was no end of fun enjoyed by every one, while the costumes brought many a laugh and thrill. Good "eats" too, and plenty of everything. A number of Hallowe'en games were played and prizes awarded the winners.

YOUR ACCIDENT RISK

By H. ADDINGTON BRUCE
Author of "The Riddle of Personality," "Self-Development," Etc.
(Copyright, 1923, by The Associated Newspapers)

Of special interest to those who have had accidents are the recent findings of a German savant, Professor Marbe of Wurzburg, with regard to the accident risk of different people.

Stated briefly, Marbe holds that if, during a period of five years, a person has two or more accidents, that person is likely to have during the next five-year period three times as many accidents as persons free from accidents during the first period.

This conclusion Marbe reaches after a statistical survey of the accident experiences of 3000 men and women. From the figures studied by him it appears:

That persons having no accidents whatever during a given five-year period will have .52 accidents during the five years immediately following.

That persons having one accident during a five-year period will during a next five-year period have .91 accidents.

That those who have more than one accident during the first five-year period will have 1.34 accidents during the second.

Similar percentages were found when the 3000 persons were divided into 30 groups of 100 persons in each group and a survey made of each group. Consequently:

"The deduction seems justified that those unlucky persons who have frequently had accidents will not, in the future, be spared such experience, but will continue to suffer more accidents than those who hitherto have seldom had an accident."

And, so giving further warrant for this deduction it should be added that in Professor Marbe's analysis of his statistics, according to the Berlin correspondent of the Journal of the American Medical Association:

"In viewing the total number of accidents, those accidents that are caused by mere chance, such as the falling of a brick from a roof, are less significant than accidents involving a personal element, such as those caused by jumping from moving cars, or through carelessness in the management of a machine."

Marbe himself seems to feel that the carelessness involved is of a sort inherent in the nature of the person suffering several accidents, so that he suggests, for one thing, that accident insurance companies should charge higher or lower premium rates according to the frequency with which applicants for insurance have had accidents in the past.

But it is at least equally permissible to assume that, excepting only in the case of mentally deficient or psychopathic persons, the accident-causing carelessness is remediable. In which case persons aware that they fall into the class of highest accident risk could by self-training in watchfulness avert the accidents indicated for them by Marbe's statistical survey.

Which would make that survey of exceeding practical value alike to the individual and to society.

A REAL MORAL VICTORY

It is rather a coincidence that the very day that the writer discusses the subject of moral victories in football in this column, he should go out to a game and see the most perfect demonstration of a complete moral victory possible for a defeated team to win. Furthermore, it is a second coincidence that the very team referred to in the mention of the slogan, "A team that won't be beat can't be beat," should happen to win this moral victory.

Saturday's game on Moore field, in which Whittier defeated the Southern Branch Cubs by a 14 to 12 score, was the most complete moral victory possible for a team to win and at the same time go down to defeat. The Bruins deserved to win the contest in every way, but two breaks gave the Poets as many touchdowns.

Both the Cub markers were actually earned, by marching down the field and putting forth everything they had in them to shove the ball over the line. On the other hand, the Quakers obtained their two scores from a 70-yard run after an intercepted pass, and a lucky fall on the oval behind the goal line after a blocked kick.

The Bruins outplayed the Poets, outfought them and played circles around them, but were unable to win the game. They made first downs time after time, while the Quakers made but three first downs from scrimmage against the Bruin line. If there ever was a team that won a moral victory, it was the Southern Branch eleven in the Whittier game, and if there ever was a bunch of football players that showed up gloriously in defeat, it was the Cub team Saturday.

THE TROJANS CAME BACK

Yes, the Trojans came back. After losing their first conference game to Washington by a huge score, the U. S. C. football team took the Stanford footballers into camp Saturday to the tune of 14 to 7. The Trojan was not crushed by the Stanford steamroller, he boarded it and completely destroyed its efficiency in action.

This, with the comparatively poor showing the Golden Bears made against the Washington State team should put a little more pep into the U. S. C.-California game November 10. Since the Trojans fell to the Huskies there has been some talk that the big game would be nothing but a walk-away for California, especially as the Bears handed the Oregon Aggies a terrible crack the same way, but now things look a little differently in the light of yesterday's happenings.

HACK AND POLK TO MEET IN BOUT HERE

When John Hackenschmidt and Joe Polk face each other in the local arena tomorrow night, Glendale wrestling fans will have a chance to see a real grappling battle. Hack says that he is all ready to go, and is going to give the A. E. F. champion a surprise. Polk avers that Hack is going to get something he is not looking for so there is calculated to be some real action when the two meet. This will be the first wrestling match staged in Glendale since the Hackenschmidt-Montana bout on Labor day.

Several good preliminary boxing bouts have been arranged by Matchmaker Les Marston. Jimmy Racer will meet Fred Rose, Jack Carr and Battling Chico will stage a 108 pound scrap, while Cecil Taylor and Freddie Klagge will fight at 118 pounds.

This will be the third week of the Glendale Athletic club bouts and a capacity crowd is expected. The bouts will be staged at Hahn's auditorium, 109 North Brand boulevard. The fireworks will start at 8:30.

K. OF C. TEAM TRIMS ICEMEN

Bacon pitched the Glendale K. C.'s to a 4 to 3 win over the Pasadena Ice at the Park avenue lot yesterday in a hotly contested 11-inning game. Bacon showed great promise by allowing the icemen six hits and striking out 15. Fansett and Doll were the hard hitters for the Caseys. Doll's homer broke up the game in the eleventh.

SAGEHENS DOWN BULLDOG ELEVEN IN RAGGED GAME

In a game ragged with fumbles Pomona College Saturday defeated Redlands University Bulldogs by a score of 27 to 6 at Redlands.

The Sagehens put up a much improved brand of football over that so far displayed this season. They had no trouble at all gaining through the Bulldog line.

Redlands only menaced the Sagehens' goal once. That was the result of a series of forward passes in the last few minutes of the first half. A Pomona pass was intercepted and Taylor immediately let fly with a couple of beautiful 20-yard passes, one to McGillbra and one to Simpson. Simpson staggered across the line dragging two Pomona players with him.

The line-up:

POETS WIN FROM CUBS BY 14-12 SCORE ON BREAKS

Whittier Wins Game, Although Outplayed by Branchers

Whittier nosed out the University of California Southern Branch Cubs 14 to 12 Saturday in one of the hottest tilts ever seen on Moore field. The Cubs outfought Whittier throughout the game and the Poets scored their victory by making the best of the breaks. About 5000 spectators saw the game.

The first Whittier touchdown came in the first quarter as the result of an intercepted pass by Johns, who ran 65 yards for a touchdown. Denny converted. This was after the Cubs had pained considerable ground on exchanges of punts.

Throughout the rest of the first quarter the punting game was continued by both teams, the Branchers getting the best of the exchanges. By the end of the quarter the Cubs had the ball on the Whittier 14-yard line on their first down. When the second quarter opened they started off with a rush, Haralson getting through the Poets' line for first downs. After they had been held for three downs on the 4-yard line, the Cubs shoved the ball across, Haralson carrying the oval. The attempt to kick the goal failed. The score was 7 to 6.

In the third period the punting was renewed, the Quakers getting the best of the deal. It was not long before they were on the California 5-yard line. They were unable to make first downs, however, and lost the ball. When the Bruins got possession of the oval they attempted to kick out of danger, but Jessup, who had gone in at right tackle for Whittier, blocked the put. The ball bounced across the goal line and Clark of the Poet eleven fell on it. The goal was again converted by Denny. The score mounted to 14 to 16.

Fighting mad, the Cubs staged a rally in the final canto and marched down the field on line bucks and runs until they were within scoring distance. They lost the ball, however, but a fluke punt by Whittier gave them possession on the Poets' 20-yard line. Line bucks netted them first downs and after another series of line bucks Art Jones carried the ball over the line for the second Bruin touchdown. Again the attempt to convert failed, costing the game. The score stood 14 to 12.

The California Cubs outplayed Whittier in every department of the game. Give them a kicker and a forward passer and they would have a championship team. Their line holds like a steel wall and the Poets made but three first downs from scrimmage against it. Taking advantage of the breaks won for Whittier in the Caltek game a few weeks ago and it enabled the Poets to defeat a really superior team yesterday. Walt Westcott, captain, was unable to play, due to injuries received in the Loyola game. The line-up:

GLENDALE A. C. VICTORS OVER GARDENA NINE

Yesterday afternoon at Gardena the baseball team of the Glendale Athletic Club defeated the Gardena Merchants by a score of 6 to 5. Tommy Morgan pitched a wonderful game, working his team out of several tight pinches. Almost all of Gardena turned out to see the new pitcher, Brick Bellman of the Angels, do his stuff. Mike Camargo soon had Bellman in the air, knocking a homer in the third and a three-bagger in the eighth. Bill Ferguson, formerly of the Texas league, made his first appearance in today's game and will be on the Athletic Club's lineup all the season. The score:

Glendale	0 1 3 1 0 0 0 1 0— 6
Hits	0 1 5 1 0 0 1 2 0—10
Gardena	0 1 2 0 1 0 0 1 0— 5
Hits	0 0 2 0 1 0 1 1 0— 2

Innings pitched—by Morgon 9, Bellman 9; home run, Camargo; three-base hit, Camargo; two-base hit, Ferguson; sacrifice hits, Shrider 1, Morgan 1, Jessup 1; bases on balls, off Morgon 2, Bellman 0; struck out, by Morgon 9, Bellman 6.

GLENDALE BIG LEAGUERS LOSE TO PASADENA

Bobby Meusel's Homer Fails to Win Game for Glendale

Even big leaguers can drop a baseball game to an outfit which they are supposed to outclass. The Glendale major league all-star baseballers demonstrated that fact yesterday when they lost to the Pasadena Merchants by a 4 to 3 score at Tournament Park, Pasadena. Even Bobby Meusel's long homer in the fifth failed to win for Glendale.

A crowd estimated at 10,000 spectators witnessed the affair. City Manager Reeves of Glendale and Jesse Smith, president of the Chamber of Commerce, presented Bobby and Irish Meusel with the keys of Glendale just before the game got under way.

Bob's drive came in the fifth frame after Glendale had secored two markers on Sawyer's hit, a base on balls to Statz and Hannah's overthrow in trying to halt the fleet footed Statz in going to second.

In the ninth with the score 3 to 1 in favor of Glendale, Blenkiron led off by being walked. Hughes singled through the infield. Bill Doran came through with a blow at this stage, sending Blenkiron home. Charley Deal batted for Dell and laid down a sacrifice bunt, Hughes scoring. After McNabb walked the game was brought to a climax when Barnaba flied to deep left field. Doran beating Irish Meusel's throw to the plate.

TROJAN BABES DEFEAT CARDS

While their bigger brothers of the varsity were pounding everything but the fight out of the Stanford eleven at Palo Alto, Leo Calland's University of Southern California frosh, although playing the poorest game that they have put up this season, proved themselves to be the complete masters of "Husky" Hunt's Stanford Babes in the Los Angeles Coliseum, 10 to 0.

TROJANS WIN 14 TO 7 VICTORY OVER CARDS

Blocked Punts Account for Both U. S. C. Touchdowns

By HARRY M. BENNETT, Jr.
(Press Sport Correspondent)
(Exclusive Dispatch)

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 29.—Stanford's beautiful dream of a Pacific coast championship was shattered by the Trojans Saturday at the Stanford stadium when the Cards were defeated by a 14 to 7 score in a game that was greatly marred by roughness which resulted in severe injuries to several players. Holly Adams, the outstanding star for U. S. C. made both touchdowns, and in an identical way, when he blocked Nevers' punts near the Stanford goal line and fell on the oval for a tally, while the "Cards" made their score on straight football with Murray on the final plunge.

Whirlwind playing started the first half with Stanford on the offensive, and the large part of the play near the Trojan goal, but the Cards lacked the final punch to put it over when within five yards of the goal line. U. S. C. recovered and an exchange of punts with a 25-yard run by Campbell of U. S. C. put the ball in the middle of the field, where it was lost to Stanford on downs. From there Cleveland and Murray took it to the 18-yard line as the quarter ended.

The second period opened with two line smashes by Cleveland, puting the ball on the U. S. C. 1yard line, and also putting said Cleveland out of the game with minor injuries. His place was taken by Cuddeback, who bucked over on the first play for the initial score of the fray. Cuddy completed the act by kicking a perfect goal, giving the Cards a seven point lead over Henderson's fighting cohorts.

Trojans came back with a strong offense, pushing the Cards down the field and scoring on them when Adams blocked Nevers' punt and fell on it across the line for a score. Hawkins added a point with the place kick. The rest of the quarter was rather slow with Riddle making continual plunges for little gain. The ball ended 7 to 7 with the ball in Trojan territory.

Following is the line-up when they started. The substitutes are too numerous to enumerate here.

Easy Lessons in AUCTION BRIDGE

New Series

COPYRIGHT 1923 BY HOYLE, JR.

ARTICLE No. 2

Big hands at Auction play themselves. Even the novice can go game if he holds all the aces and kings. The time when lost tricks become important is in the close hands. Then good judgment and keen perception are required. Tricks lost in such hands rankle. One well-known expert is authority for the statement that four out of every five rubbers are "chucked;" that is, lost by bad play or bad bidding. Such a statement by an authority shows the importance of lost tricks and the necessity of studying and, if possible, of eliminating their causes.

It is impossible, of course, to specify or single out the numberless ways of losing tricks. One of the most common is for the weak player to take a finesse which may gain a trick if it wins but is sure to lose game if it fails. Never risk the loss of a game to gain an extra trick.

Another common mistake is the refusal of a player to shift to another suit when he finds his own suit is hopeless. Often the weak player persists in playing his own suit when there is no possible chance to make it. The sensible thing to do under such circumstances is to give up trying for the impossible and shift to another suit that may be your partner's.

Another mistake that the novice frequently makes is failing to unblock his partner's suit; that is, he retains the winning card of the suit until forced to win the trick and then has no more of the suit to lead to his partner. Still another error is the refusal to trump in with the best tramp. Many players so dislike to trump in with the top trump that they hold on to their top trump as if it were gold, and let their opponents discard their losing cards on an established suit. Never let an opponent discard if you can avoid doing so. Play the top trump under such conditions just as quickly as the lowest trump.

There are numberless other ways of losing tricks but it is not necessary or expedient to specify them. Whenever you are conscious of having lost a trick or your partner tells you of it, try to get at the cause and endeavor to avoid making that same mistake again. If a player would conscientiously follow this plan, his game would improve so rapidly that he would be surprised. If you do not understand a particular play, do not hesitate to ask a better player. Most players are only too willing to air their knowledge in explaining the cause of your lost tricks. One of the sad sights of any card club is the weak player. The other members avoid him as a pest and his lot is anything but happy. Work to improve your game. There is no royal road to Auction. If you want to become a good player, you must work over your game constantly.

In studying your lost tricks, do not forget that occasionally the same number of tricks can be won by bad play as by good play. Always remember that there is a right way and a wrong way to play Auction and continually strive for the right way. One point that should not be overlooked is that occasionally the loss of a trick is justifiable and represents good play. For example, near the end of a hand you need a certain number of tricks to save game. Then is the time to think what card or cards your partner must have to save game, and to play accordingly. Sometimes you will lose a trick by such tactics but more often you will win. To thus place the cards mentally in the only way to save or win a game and then to play accordingly, is the sign of the expert. A trick lost under such conditions is always a justifiable loss.

Avoid criticising. Never let the lost tricks, either your own or your partner's, upset your poise. A cool head is a fine asset in Auction as in everything else. If you let the lost trick of one hand upset your play in the next hand, you are just doubling its importance. Once a trick is lost, forget it. Go on to the next hand without regrets and you will get much better results.

Solution of Problem No. 1

Hearts — 10, 6

Hearts — A, Q, J, 8
Clubs — None
Diamonds — K, J, 10, 6
Spades — None

Spades are trumps and Z is in the lead. How can he so play the hand that he will win all the tricks against any defense? This problem is an example of the grand coup, that is, trumping your partner's winning card in order to shorten your trump holding, either to avoid the lead or to obtain a tenace position. In this problem, Z should lead two rounds of diamonds, winning the second round in his own hand with the king. He should then lead the jack of diamonds and trump it in Y's hand with the deuce of spades. Y should now lead the ten of hearts and win it with the jack in dummy and lead another diamond and trump with the four of trumps in Y's hand. Y should now lead the heart which Z should win with the queen. Z now must win the remaining tricks as Y has the king and jack of spades over the queen ten in A's hand. This problem is well worth careful study.

"GOSSIPING THE GOSPEL" IS THEME OF REV. EDMONDS

The morning service of the Presbyterian church was held in the Glendale Theater. The occasion was the annual thankoffering service under the auspices of the Women's Missionary society. The pastor, Rev. W. E. Edmonds, used as his sermon subject, "Gossiping the Gospel." The text was Acts 8:4, "They . . . went everywhere preaching the word," or as a modern translation gives it, "They . . . went everywhere gossiping the gospel," as one who runs from house to house telling news.

It was a sad day in the early Christian church when one of their number was stoned to death because of his faith in Jesus Christ, which he openly preached. It was not preaching as we think of it. Wherever they went they talked about it, telling the good news, literally gossiping the gospel.

Four parts of a picture are set before us. The first is an oriental scene. In the foreground is Jacob's well. By it, at the noonday hour, there sits a man tired and weary with a long journey. Approaching the well is a Samaritan woman of shaded reputation. With Divine tenderness He looks upon her and asks, "Give me to drink." Here is Jesus Christ the Son of the Highest, Lord of Glory, gossiping the gospel. By His hand the worlds were framed but He has time for a social chat of eternal import.

The second part of the picture unfolds. We behold the Samaritan woman. She stands today as a representative of a world of broken-hearted women. Jesus Christ came to gossip with women, not about them, to tell them the good news of an uplifting gospel.

The third part of the picture is in the background, fields of grain whitening for harvest. In Latin America the door is open. The field is whitening for harvest. The Moslem world is open as never before. It is white to harvest. China is reaching out for western civilization, which is of course Christian civilization. The harvest cannot wait. "Pray ye . . . thrust forth gossipers of the gospel."

The last part of the picture shows so few reapers. One is in a great field which he can never garner by himself. Another dies at his task. Others are sick and broken in body. The question is not whether the heathen at home or abroad can be saved without the gospel but whether I can be saved if I do not do something to help gossip the gospel. Who is willing this day to consecrate his service unto the Lord? It is a personal obligation.

Curing your Golf Troubles

By Jim Barnes

Dear Mr. Barnes: Though I am left handed in most things, I started playing golf right handed and have been hitting from that side for about four years. I am constantly bothered with a slice, and have come to the conclusion that it is due to the fact that the left arm takes too big a part, pulling the hands through ahead of the clubhead, and so causing the latter to cut across the ball. My trouble is most pronounced on my tee shots. How can I cure this trouble?

H. V. M.

Answer: I cannot, of course, say whether your diagnosis of your trouble is correct or not because numerous faults may result in a slice. However, if you have sized the situation up properly, I am inclined to believe that a lack of proper pivoting may be at the bottom of the trouble. You are not getting the shoulders well enough around, so that the body is really turning into the stroke on the downswing too soon. Because f this your left hand appears to be pulling the hands ahead of the club.

Check up on your pivoting. See that you turn the shoulders around toward the right until you are looking at the ball practically over the point of the left shoulder at the top of the swing. Now in addition to this do not be in too big a hurry to hit the ball. No doubt your trouble is partly due to pressing, that is trying to hit the ball too hard and so getting too much body into the stroke. Start the club down smoothly in a free, loose swing, and do not attempt to apply any extra hitting power until the hands are pretty well down to the level of the waist. The player who errs in trying to hit the ball too hard generally does so with a slice.

Dry or oiled mops should be well shaken each time after use, and occasionally should be washed in hot soapsuds, rinsed in clear hot water, and dried as quickly as possible. Oiled mops may be renewed by pouring on a few drops of kerosene or floor oil and letting them stand until the oil spreads through the strings.

'IN THE BEGINNING' STILL IS THEME OF KEITH L. BROOKS

Speaking before the Presbyterian Brotherhood Bible class at the city council chambers Sunday morning at 9:30, Keith L. Brooks threw many helpful side lights on the last half of the opening chapter of Genesis. The increased attendance since these studies were begun is evidence of the deep interest being taken in the subject. Mr. Brooks said in part:

"Many have considered it a serious difficulty that while light was called forth on the first day, the sun and moon are not said to have been placed as light-giving bodies until the fourth day. The French atheist Voltaire, raised a laugh on Moses for teaching that light existed before the sun. In those days, some two hundred years ago, Christians were unable to answer him. About eighty-five years ago Von Humboldt discovered that light was before the sun and that the sun is not the source of light but an attracting and difusing body.

The framer of our bodies mercifully divided the day from the night that we might sleep and wake at intervals that would be best for our physical health. The heavenly bodies were also to be for signs. A sign is that which points to something beyond. Scripture intimates that from the beginning the stars conveyed some special teachings to the people of God. The wise men at the birth of Jesus would not have followed the star unless some definite prophecies and promises were known to be connected with the stars.

The third purpose of the heavenly bodies was for the regulation of the seasons. In the early ages the rolling heavens was all the almanac they had. Spring, summer, plowing, sowing and reaping were regulated by the rising and setting of certain constellations. The present uses of the stars to us continue to be the accurate determination of the seasons and location on land and sea.

Moses put special emphasis on "the greater light," the sun. To us it looks no bigger than a wagon wheel. But we see it at a distance of 91,000,000 miles. It fills more than a million times the cubic space filled by the earth. This glorious sun, the greatest object in the sky to us is but a mere speck in the vast empire of which it is a part. It is one of innumerable hosts of such suns and systems. They are myriads of stars in space immeasuably greater than our sun. The finite mind cannot begin to conceive of it all. But any reasonable man must see that the heavens declare the majesty and glory of the Creator, who must Himself be greater than all He has created. What a colossal fool a man must be to deny the existence of God. What are we coming to in these days when a college professor stands before his class of young people and says "the only God there is is man"? The psalmist long ago said, "the heavens declare the glory of God and the firmament showeth His handiwork."

Alexander Woolcott remembers the story of Sir Herbert Tree's first appearance in "The Merchant of Venice." At that time Max Beerbohm was dramatic critic of the Saturday Review, and of course it was not the thing for him to review his brother's performance. The job was according given to John Palmer, who wrote a mildly derisive criticism entitled "Shylock as Mr. Tree." A characteristic bid of Max Beerbohm humor was his retort to Herbert when the latter reproached him for his brotherly neglect after the famous initial performance. "Ah, I was there," said Max, "but you did not know me in your beard."

Having been so unfortunate as to spill a quart of beans, a small boy sat on the curb and tried hard to salvage some. But they were hopelessly soiled, so he gave it up and began to cry. A passing pedestrian paused to give him a dime, and within two minutes another man had chipped in. The boy then settled down to a regular business. An hour later the original contributor happened that way again. He was about to proffer another coin when the policeman on the beat strolled up.

"The kid's done about enough with these beans," remarked the cop. "Taken in over $2. He'll be a wizard of finance when he grows up. Trot along now, son."

KNITTED SUIT FOR THE OLDER WOMAN

A knitted suit that will appeal to the older woman has a skirt knitted in a pattern of grey and black, and a sweater blouse of plain grey with collar and cuffs of the same pattern.

CITY PRINTING

NOTICE OF PUBLIC WORKS

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Council of the City of Glendale, on the 18th day of October, 1923, did, at its meeting on said day, adopt Resolution of Intention No. 2145 to order the following improvement to be made on Rio Street and a certain alley within the City of Glendale.

That the public interest and convenience require and it is the intention of the Council of the City of Glendale to close up, vacate and abandon for street purposes all of Rio Street lying between the extensions of the easterly line of Niodrara Drive and the westerly line of Lot 8, Tract No. 250, as per Map recorded in Book 15, Pages 130 and 131 of Maps, Records of Los Angeles County, California.

That the public interest and convenience require and it is the intention of the Council of the City of Glendale to close up, vacate and abandon for alley purposes all of the first alley westerly of Canada Boulevard, lying between the extensions of the northerly line of Colina Drive and the southerly line of Lot 8, Tract No. 250, as per Map recorded in Book 15, Pages 130 and 131 of Maps, Records of Los Angeles County, California.

The district to be assessed to pay the damages, costs and expenses of said improvement is described in and reference is hereby made to Resolution of Intention No. 2145 for further particulars of said work.

BEN F. DUPUY,
Street Superintendent of the City of Glendale.

Allen Avenue, and of certain streets and alleys intersecting or terminating therein in the City of Glendale, as described in Resolution of Intention No. 2067, passed by said Council on the 16th day of August, 1923, to which said Resolution reference is hereby made for a description of said work, and of the district to be assessed therefor.

The Council of the City of Glendale determines that serial bonds shall be issued to represent assessments of twenty-five ($25.00) dollars or over for the costs of said work or improvement; said serial bonds shall extend over a period ending nine (9) years from and after the second day of January next succeeding the date of said bonds, and an even annual proportion of the principal sum thereof shall be payable by coupon on the second day of January every year after their date until the whole is paid; and the interest shall be payable semi-annually by coupon on the second days of January and July, respectively, of each year at the rate of seven per cent per annum on all sums unpaid until the whole of said principal and interest is paid.

Said bonds shall be issued in accordance with the provisions of an Act of the Legislature of the State of California, entitled "An Act to provide a system of street improvement bonds to represent certain assessments for the cost of street work and improvements within municipalities and also for the payment of such bonds," approved February 27, 1893, and of all Acts supplementary thereto and amendatory thereof.

And thereafter, to-wit: On the 25th day of October, 1923, awarded the contract for said work to the lowest regular responsible bidder, towit: City of Glendale, at the prices specified for said improvement in its proposal, on file for said improvement, to-wit:

Cast Iron Pipe, as per plan....$6700.00

And that said award has been approved by the Mayor of the said City of Glendale.

Clerk's office, City of Glendale, California, 27th day of October, 1923.

Two men were walking along the beach at Brighton when one of them accidentally stumbled against a child's pail.

"My dear friend," exclaimed the other. "I cannot tell you how much I lament your sad death."

"Whatever do you mean—my death?"

"You have just kicked the bucket," replied the first, with a laugh.

"On the contrary," said the other, "I have just turned a little pail."

Every one will recall the orator who, while declaring that he will not mention this fact, nor make any reference to that one, contrives to include both. Here is an everyday instance of the same way of at once avoiding and mentioning a subject. "I rather pride myself on one thing," said the young father. "Although I have the brightest, smartest, cutest, best youngster I ever saw, I never brag about him."

Rev. Cole Talks of "Church Sleepers"

"Church Sleepers" was the topic of the sermon yesterday morning at the Central Christian church.

The text was taken from Matthew 26:40: "And he cometh unto the disciples and findeth them sleeping."

"There are two pictures of this incident that should always be hung together," remarked Rev. C. A. Cole. "Judas, much awake, leading an assault at the gate; Peter, James and John, much asleep in the garden. One I would call treachery, the other lethargy.

"The world detests a traitor and refuses to give him quarter. But what sensation does the second awaken. Do you and I pity Peter and his two companions? Are we prompted to excuse them on grounds of physical exhaustion? Well, Jesus himself was lenient and suggested such an explanation: 'The spirit is willing but the flesh is weak!'

"Let us walk back into the garden and see the sleepers. We stumble over multitudes.

"One of the greatest foes Christianity could meet is at the gate threatening betrayal at the hands of the coming generation. The Bible has been expelled from the schools. Religious training has been largely abandoned in American homes. Children are excused from church attendance.

"All this means a threatened attack upon Christ and His Kingdom more crucial than Judas' ancient betrayal ever was. Is it not time for all who love the Master's honor and desire the increase of His church, to be alert and vigilant?"

At the evening service the pastor preached the second of the series of sermons on the "Founders of the Faith," reviewing the persecutions and growth of the church from the time of Paul to the dawn of the reformation.

LA CRESCENTA NOTES

The annual meeting of the Dunsmor Canyon Water company was held at the school auditorium Saturday afternoon. The entire board was re-elected to serve another year. The officers are C. P. Waste, president; C. W. Angier, vice-president; H. S. Bissell, M. Cookson and F. V. Hall, directors; L. A. Potter, secretary. Mr. Waste made a talk on the general condition of the water company and the accomplishments of the past year. The question of reorganization and consolidation of the La Crescenta Mutual and the Dunsmoor Canyon Water company was discussed during the session.

Members of the Pasadena Optimist and Kiwanis clubs, were guests of H. A. Baldridge at his home, Onondarka ranch, last Saturday. Swimming, hiking and baseball were diversions of the afternoon.

The Montrose pupils who have been attending the local school took possession of their new home in Montrose this morning. Mrs. Ester T. Eyer will be principal of the Montrose school, taking the third and fourth grades, and Mrs. Edith M. Boyen will teach the first and second grades. The total registration for the La Crescenta district is 360 pupils; 79 pupils being registered from Montrose.

The Hallowe'en party given by the local Girl Scouts at the school auditorium last Saturday evening was the event of the week-end. The local organization numbers 8 eight members and has been in existence only three months, so much credit is due them and their efficient captain, Mrs. Jessie Hanson, for the success of their first entertainment. The Hallowe'en motif and a profusion of garden flowers were used decoratively. The costumes were beautiful and many grotesque. The first prize was awarded Mrs. G. Telfer. Stuart Collins won the second prize, Robert Potts third and Lealwand Mead fourth. Miss Mildred Maranville and Miss Helen Mead presided over the punch bowl. The candy booth was in charge of Misses Helen Fisher and Helen Haskins. Misses Lois Dwyer and Dorothy Potter presided over the apple and doughnut tables. Music and dancing were happy features of the evening's entertainment.

VANITY

At five a maiden's wants are few:
A set of blocks, a doll or two,
A little place inside to play
If it should come a rainy day;
A pair of shoes, a pinafore—
I really think of nothing more.

At twenty she is quite above
All childish wants—she asks but love,
And dreams of Princes, tall and fair,
Who come a-wooing and who dare
All dangers, and she keeps apart
For him the castle of her heart.

At thirty—well, a little tea
For the distinguished Mrs. B.,
Who writes—a Prince to entertain,
A long-haired Lion to make vain
With silly tricks, a horse show box
And just a little plunge in stocks.

At thirty-five and forty—well
There isn't much that's new to tell:
A little bigger country place,
A real good lotion for her face,
And some reduction made in those
One can afford to say she knows.

At fifty—does her fancy end?
She wants—ah, yes, she wants a friend
To prove her years were not in vain,
She wants those dreams of youth again,
When Princes-errant, tall and fair,
Lived, loved, and came a-wooing there.

"PONJOLA" IS HIT AT THE T. D. & L.

"Ponjola" is the attraction at the T. D. & L. theater again today. It features the exploits of a young Englishwoman who journeys to escape the clutches of the law. The action starts in Paris, disclosing the heroine balked in an effort to commit suicide by a stranger who is returning to South Africa and his promised bride. He takes her into his confidence—and as a result she resolves to forget her suicidal impulse. She even goes so far as to accompany him to South Africa disguised as a man—and right here we wish to state that Anna Q. Nilsson makes a startling appearance in her masquerade and manages to be more convincing than any contemporary who has essayed such a role—and discovers him a drunkard—the instrument of his degeneration being "Ponjola," Kaffir word for whisky.

The regeneration is effected, but before the conclusion one sees the betrayal of the hero by his partner, who, to make matters worse, had married the fiancee.

Let it be said that "Ponjola" is expectly acted by Miss Nilsson and James Kirkwood—the latter putting considerable feeling into his expression. Tully Marshall and Joseph Kilgour also contribute effective performances.

'STRANGERS OF THE NIGHT' IS THRILLER

Laughs chased thrills all over the Glendale theater last night when the Fred Niblo production of "Strangers of the Night," a screen version of Walter Hackett's stage success, "Captain Applejack," helped prove that the screen is mightier than the stage. All of the spectacular development that the play suggested was realized in lavish fashion by this Louis B. Mayer presentation through Metro. It is one of the greatest photoplays and should not be missed.

Matt Moore heads a brilliant cast as the timid Britisher who becomes a swashbuckling pirate, and the blonde beauty of Enid Bennett vies with the dark seductiveness of Barbara La Marr in the affections of the spectators. Robert McKim is again a superb villain.

Niblo, who produced "The Three Musketeers," "The Famous Mrs. Fair," and "Blood and Sand," here has his greatest triumph.

GLORIA IS NIOBE IN "ZAZA," GATEWAY

While the thermometer in New York was breaking heat records of thirty years' standing, Gloria Swanson set a record for sustained emotionalism in a scene for "Zaza" during the filming of that superb production. Miss Swanson remained in tears constantly during five hours for one of the most dramatic scenes in the picture.

Miss Swanson's remarkable work was done in Zaza's love nest when Zaza learns that her sweetheart, Dufresne, has a wife and that he is leaving France for America. She runs the gamut of emotions in the scene, passing rapidly from hate to frenzy, mockery to jealousy and then to bitter contrition.

"She is the most remarkable actress I ever saw on stage or screen," declared Mr. Dwan. "Her work in this picture has been amazing. There seems to be no limit to the depths of her emotion." "Zaza" is now showing at the Gateway theater.

On those who are not used to living up to the style provided at some of the north shore restaurants a dinner at one of these places sometimes has an extraordinary effect.

Two men had saved the price of a good dinner and were sitting in the lounge afterward smoking long cigars and generally trying to look as if this was exactly what they were used to.

"I tell you," said one of them, after a while in what he thought was a tone of voice used by members of aristocracy, "there's a delicious sense of luxury when one is lying in one's bed and ringing one's bell for one's valet."

"Have you got a valet?" asked his friend, in surprise.

"No," answered the other, "but I have a bell."

Mayme asked me to quit smoking. I quit. Then she asked me to quit drinking, and I quit. Next, to quit running to the club, and I quit that, too.

Then she asked me quit flirting, running to musical comedies, betting on the races, card playing, pool playing, bowling, and I quit them all.

She didn't ask me to quit loving her—but I quit, anyway.

A man may be too busy at the office to attend a funeral—unless it is that of the home team.

"The Way Made Plain," Dr. Funk's Sermon Theme

In presenting the subject, "The Key to the Scriptures," or "The Way Made Plain," Dr. Funk said: "Our holy religion is not based upon a complicated network of philosophical and scientific propaganda. Indeed, it is neither a science nor a philosophy. It is a heavenly food, a living water. So wonderful is its clearness and so charming its simplicity, that a child may understand and lay hold of it. And yet so sublime is the teaching of this heavenly wisdom that wise men may fail to comprehend it. The profit Isaiah declared 'The wayfaring men, though fools, shall not err them.'

"The key is found in the scriptures themselves, and nowhere else. That's where Dr. Luther found it. Luther found no peace for his sin burdened soul until he discovered an old Latin bible. There he learned that 'there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved.' Christ is the key to the scriptures. You may search the religious literature of the centuries and you will fail to find a clearer statement of the things necessary to be believed than that which is given in two paragraphs of Luther's explanation of the second and third articles of the creed.

A Quarterly Mailing of Dividend Checks to the 270,000 Stockholders of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Nationwide Ownership

NATIONWIDE in the scope of its service, the Bell System is nationwide also in the distribution of its securities.

In street car, at church, at theatre, at grocery store counter you rub elbows with its owners.

They differ as widely in occupation and in wealth as do the more than 14,000,000 subscribers served by the system. But as Bell subscribers are united by a common means of inter-communication, so Bell owners are united by a common characteristic—thrift.

Other forms of thrift have very properly attracted the savings of thousands of Americans, but none of them more truly illustrates an investment democracy and none more directly serves the public.

Two hundred and seventy thousand people have made common property of their savings in order to maintain this great national public utility.

Their dollars serve them and serve the nation.
